Terrance Gallagher remembers the McDevitt house along Morse Hill Road, surrounded by meadow and cornfields below Green Peak. The house has not changed much (see photo). The many McDevitts of the region were often known as McDeed when they first came to America, but most or all changed their name to McDevitt. Dorset Vital records show the name consistently as McDeed up through 1875 when Mary Jane was born. Two years later, when William was born, they are recorded as McDevitts and they remained McDevitts ever after.

Notes for WILLIAM WATSON MCDEVITT:
Willie was legally blind and could not read or write. In 1935 he became the legal guardian for his niece and nephews Ellen, John and Hank Gallagher, apparently until Ellen turned 21 in 1939. His brother M.J. helped out. His will of 1938 gave Ellen 1/2, John 1/4 and Hank 1/4 of his estate and he was always considered part of the Gallagher family. This is why he was buried with the Gallaghers (along with brother M.J.)

"Births 1868-1883 Town of Dorset, Vol. 2" (Town Clerk's Office)
Nov 10, 1877: William McDevitt, John & Ellen McDevitt, Ireland, Ireland (note: mistake in record - Ellen was not born in Ireland). John is listed as a quarryman

Info from Cemetary plot agreement for Margaret J and M. Henry Gallagher. "William W" and "Michael J." are listed on the agreement. The birth date matches with the 1900 census of the McDevitt family on Kelleher Road. However, the tombstones lists somewhat different dates than the plot agreement & census. Needs to be double checked.

Marriage - can't find a record at town hall. Probably married in another town.

Children - May not have had any. Obituary does list any surviving children as of 1955. However, there is a birth recorded in Dorset of Walter David Haley, Oct. 2, 1900, of Anthony & Ellen Haley. She may have raised Mamie/Maurnie McDevitt after Mary's Mother Ellen McGuigan McDevitt died. Mamie/ Maurnie was a McDevitt cousin who had been adopted into John & Ellen McDevitt's family. Mary and Marmie/Maurnie frequently visited Margaret McDevitt Gallagher in the 1930s, as described in her journal.

Known as "M" or "M.J."

MJ never married or had children, but after his brother-in-law (Michael) Henry Gallagher died, MJ helped to care of his sister Margaret and her three children, along with his brother "Blind Uncle Willie." After his sister died, brother Willie became the legal guardian of the children although he was blind, while M.J. helped raise the kids and was the only real force of discipline for the boys. His will dated 1935 (the year Margaret died) gave all his belongings to niece & nephews Ellen, John and Hank, just orphaned. John was to get 1/4, Hank 1/4 and Ellen 1/2.

M.J. was buried with the Gallagher family.

Notes for ELLEN THERESA GALLAGHER:

Ellen became the legal guardian for John & Hank until they turned 21, per documents. This must have been after Ellen herself turned 21. Uncle William McDevitt was appointed legal guardian between 1935 (per document), when their mother died, and apparently remained guardian until 1939 when Ellen turned 21. Interesting note: William had appointed Mary (McDevitt) Haley legal guardian of the kids if anything should happen to him.

Ellen then became the keeper of the Gallagher Farm after John and Hank signed over their interest in the farm to her.

Ellen was also appointed administrator of Uncle M.J.'s estate after he died in 1962.

M.J. and Willie McDevitt both had wills dividing their assets between the three kids, with John getting 1/4th, Hank 1/4th and Ellen 1/2. William's will was dated 1938.

When Ellen died, she set up a trust fund for her three nephews, Terry, Mike and Rich Gallagher.
